

Channeling Erik®

3 entries entitled "Erik on the Shadow Government" Parts 1, 2 & 3

Posted on www.channelingerik.com November 29, 30 and December 1, 2017 respectively and reproduced here.

Part 1 - November 29th

Me: Hi Emma, hello again, and hi, my lovely Erik.

Erik: Hi, mamma. Love you still.

Me: (teasing him) Oh, really? Are you sure?

Erik: teasing me right back, rubbing his chin: "Hmm..."

Me: All right, we are going to talk a little about the government. Hmm.

Erik: Uh...

Me: Yeah.

Erik: Uh-oh! Where is my BIG book?

Cute Emma mimicking after Erik.

Me: Alright, so I saw this documentary that Lucas, my son, had me watch, called "Unacknowledged," yeah, I think that was the name of it, and it's all about these things going on in the government. The "Montauk files". It's this place where they have a lot of evidence about aliens. They're just not disclosing so much. Ugh. I can't remember so much about that movie...my mind...but anyway, they're not disclosing about aliens to us. Why are they keeping their cards close to their chest?

Erik: It's not so much...OK, they don't really want to hide the fact that we are having contacts with the aliens and we are exchanging information. 1) It's more about hiding that they're exchanging knowledge and means for our world to have free energy, no more illnesses, to have equality for everyone, no more poverty, you know – no more people starving in the world. They gave us all the tools. They gave them to us.

Me: But why? Why would they hold it from us? For example, there's this plastic glass thing in the Montauk area, in whatever building that I can't remember, that can create free energy. Seriously! I mean, and we don't have it? Oh, and this is leaked by people that had clearance in the division.

Erik: Well, yeah

Me: So, wait. First of all, is this true?

Erik: Yeah!

Me: This place and this thing of creating free energy?

Erik: It's. It's true. They have...I'm telling you – they have and we already have in hands the tools we need to fix the problems in this world. However, where is the problem? Well, because the people who are running the world don't make a dime out of these tools.

Me: Ugh!!

Erik: So why would they hand out free medicine, why would they hand out "No more illness" when THERE'S where their income is. That's how they keep power.

Me: Big Pharma!

Erik: Right!

Me: Big Pharma lines the pockets of our politicians so they don't want there to be a cure for cancer and things like that.

Erik: Yeah, these group of people – and there's a lot less than people think. It's not a big group but it's a very powerful group that not even the politicians don't know about sometimes. Some do, some others don't. These groups of people are controlling the whole world. They're controlling our food sources, are controlling our medicines, are controlling are transportation means, are controlling media, so they're into controlling everything that you can think of. They're on it in order to keep the power and stay in control. So why would they hand over these tools that would mean the loss of control.

Me: Because that's the nice thing to do.

Erik: Well, the nice thing to do hasn't really been that successful of a story in our history.

Me: It doesn't make people rich, I guess.

The connection broke a little there.

Me: What else is there in this Montauk compound besides the Plexiglas thing, are there alien bodies. I mean, what is there?

Erik: A lot of it's... (connection breaking up again)

Me: Wait a minute; you're breaking up a little. Can you repeat?

Emma: Oh, can you hear me?

Me: Yeah, but it's all of a sudden kind of blurry

Emma (moving left and right): Uh huh. They're already tracking us and cutting our signal so that we wouldn't expose them.

Me: Oh no! Are they for real?

Erik: They caught up on it.

Me: Is that for real??

Erik: Let's just say that the Internet, and everything that happens on the Internet is checked out.

Me: OK, we will try to go on. I might have to re start and stick part one and part two together. OK, so what is in the Montauk compound?

Emma: Can you still hear me?

Me: Yeah.

Erik: OK, so besides having all the tools for fixing our planet and that also means fixing our nature, fixing the global warming, fixing the problems and everything like that, 2) there are also documents, very ancient documents where truth about why we are here, means and even a sort of a manual on how we are supposed to live life on this Earth are being hidden. So there are documents in there that prove about Atlantis. They have several items from Atlantis.

Me: Wow!

Erik: Books that say who we were, where we came from, the tools to use. Also, info on usage of crystals and how they can supply the world unlimited energy.

Me: Mmm.

Erik: Free! Completely free. So, all of that, there's a lot of history that's being hidden and taken away over the years, of people who do know the answers to why we are here, who do know the answers to all our problems and how everything is interlinked. Meaning that how we as a human race lost power to these big people, to these groups of people, so there's documentation of that. Whenever a person involved invents something that it beneficial to us, it will be seized and it will be stored and be put away. Those people will either be paid off with a big amount of money to keep their mouth shut or...

Me: Or, get killed!

Erik: Or they'll disappear. Yeah, or they'll disappear very mysteriously. Or they will "commit suicide" (Emma does the sign of parenthesis in the air when she says the words "commit suicide"), which is a very popular one.

Me: Well some people say that Marilyn Monroe knew too much and that the CIA killed her. Or same thing with JFK, that he knew too much and there was a risk that he would divulge all this. Is that true?

Erik: When it came to JFK and Marilyn...so Marilyn had discovered a lot of secrets that the White House was dealing with. One of them was about the aliens' issue. Another one was how the government was negotiating with Cuba. Shall we just say it? Yeah, let's say it. I don't give a shit.

Emma and I giggling.

Erik: ...and how the government has been dealing drugs

Me: Oh!

Emma: Uh, how fun.

Erik: They have been dealing drugs so they're part of the drug-dealing cartel, actually.

Me: But to make money or to make us sick?

Erik: For money, but also to gain access into certain countries such as Cuba and Venezuela and things like that. They also sometimes sponsored certain gorilla...

Emma: Gorilla is like an animal to me but he's saying "gorilla." She giggles.

Me: The guerilla warfare, right.

Emma: There you go!

Erik: Yeah, bad people over there. They sponsor them to try to assassinate big shots, to eliminate certain people. So what Marilyn knew she wrote it down into a diary. Everything she found she had written it down, so she became a threat. And so did JFK. 3) He wanted to reveal the alien incident. He wanted full exposure of it. The CIA joined together with the Mafia.

Erik: All right, let me give you a little bit of a history: The CIA and the collaboration with the Mafia is what put JFK in the White House.

Me: Oh!

Erik: JFK was thanks to the Mafia's help that he got into the White House. Once he was into the White House, he started turning against the Mafia and he was going to expose and attack everyone. But the Mafia did not appreciate all that and said "Hey, we did put you in that White House, and now you want to try to back at us? NO!" So, the CIA did get together with the Mafia in order to eliminate JFK. And when it came to Marilyn, they did have plans to eliminate her. However, she had done the deed herself without her knowledge, just like an accidental thing.

Me: All right. So, they had this global elite – the political elite class basically – that are involved in this and there is this thing called the military industrial complex. Like the military and the corporations are involved in this. And there is also something called "The New World Order". Are these two the same thing? I mean these things were brought up in this documentary.

Erik: They were together. Let's just say that you have kind of different groups. You have the business group and you have the militarized group, where there's mostly the FBI, CIA, who are working and doing things that even the President doesn't know. The Presidents of the USA don't know all the details of what is going on. They do know that there are funding going towards secret operations and when the presidents will request the information they will say "Uh, sorry. You can't know" or will keep them in the dark basically. So you have kind of the business group, then the military/police kind of a thing. And then you also have the medicinal part of it.

Me: Big Pharma?

Erik: All Big Pharma, yeah. They basically create the diseases in order to for them to sell you the stuff. Wanna go into that?

Me: Okay, was the AIDS epidemic created by these people?

Erik: No, AIDS was created by a virus that was transmitted by primates. 4) However, cancer is being created by these entities, these people in charge. Also other diseases..

Me: But how do they create that? Chemtrails? I don't know.

Erik: They have different means.

Me: Or something in the water.

Erik: No they put it in the water to make us docile and really kind of lost, separated, don't think for yourself kind of situation. What they do is vaccines are a very great way to transmit a lot of illnesses, a lot of metals that cause cancer.

Emma: He's just showing me how it has to do with reducing the population in number. He's saying that the larger the population, the more they have people that can go against them. He's saying they like to keep the population under a certain number so that they can keep the control over them.

Erik: So vaccines are one issue, and the other issue is—and I don't want to scare people with this but they're using mosquitoes to transfer certain illnesses. They basically genetically modify the mosquitoes and introduced an illness into them and the mosquitoes are really easy to create and maintain.

Me: So did they create the swine flu? Or, what's the other one?

Erik: Yes! And foot-and-mouth disease, through cows. So, yeah, these mosquitoes, they take them up in airplanes and they release them in certain areas. Things like that.

Emma: 5) He's also talking about our food being modified in some way. They changed the cellular structure of certain foods. And they don't sit well with our bodies. Our bodies fight it without us knowing it. That is why we feel tired all the time and toxic.

Me: What kind of food?

Emma: It's just like basic foods. He's showing me grains, like white. He's also talking about some fruits and vegetables and things like that. They like modify something, I'm not really sure how or what that means...he keeps saying "Modified"...So I guess they mess with the food, with vaccines, and oh, he's saying that they spray our foods with chemicals. You can try and wash it off but it's never fully away and those chemicals that you're digesting are basically poisoning our bodies inside out, creating a whole bunch of illnesses. He's also mentioning chemtrails, being used by various organizations, including NASA and the American Government as well. It isn't just governments. It's also private organizations that are using chemtrails. The idea behind this was to help against globalization or to help against the world heating up (global warming).

Me: Sorry, you're being blurry, so I will interrupt the call and get out of Skype and start over again. Sorry.

Part 2 - November 30th

Emma: I got some water.

Me: Good. Well, you're allowed to be thirsty and quench your thirst.

Emma: When he starts talking I really get a dry throat.

Me: I bet. All right, so. They're making us sick on purpose. Now, in this documentary, Acknowledged, they also say that they often create chaos on purpose. Like, some people think that the government created 9/11.

Erik: Well they've been doing this for a while now. They create what look like terrorist attacks to us in order to justify a means.

Me: They want to feed the military-industrial complex with money?

Erik: Right, they stage these attacks because they really want the support of the people to say, "Yeah go bomb those fuckers," you know, "Go get them." That's really what it is. Now they've done this before and there is proof of this. There are files that have been released a long time ago. They wanted to invade Cuba but in order to do that they needed a reason why. And they have it written down in a paper. People can find it on the Internet. Look it up. 6) They actually say in detail how they're just going to take two military people from the United States who are going to start pretending to be Cubans. And they're just going to start shooting people in the streets in Washington. That was the plan. And then blame it on Cuba. Or another one they wanted to do was have an airplane attack one of the cities in America so they could say, "Hey, Cuba did it; let's go get them!" However, they never went through with the plan.

Me: Thank God.

Erik: It was denied by President Kennedy, he rejected the proposal. That's just an example that people can find on the Internet.

Me: Was 9/11 created by our government? Or is just what everybody thinks it is and that's just a regular Osama Bin Laden type-

Erik: No, the government was aware the attacks were going to happen, and they took the opportunity and made it worse. So, did two airplanes fly in there? Was that a terrorist attack? 7) Yes, however the building collapsing, that was the government pushing a button. They had explosives already installed in the buildings when it did happen because they knew exactly when it was going to happen, what date it would happen, they had all the intel: but they needed an excuse to go over there and find these so called bombs, they needed an excuse to go to war. And so after the airplanes flew into the buildings they were not supposed to collapse, they were strong enough to survive, they knew that. So in order to create more chaos and death they basically-

Me: I believe that because it just doesn't seem right that both buildings just totally collapsed because of the airplanes.

Erik: Mom, if you look at the videos, the buildings collapse like when they demolish a building and they don't want to do much damage to the buildings around them. They go like this in stages (Emma motions downward with her hands), boom boom boom. That's what they're doing. If it was because of the airplane hitting, the building would tilt. It's a metal construction, so it's not possible.

Me: Yeah, it was liked a planned demolition. All right, so is it only the United States who's doing this whole-

Erik: No.

Me: There are other countries too?

Erik: There are other countries too. There are also countries and let's maybe let people know about that. 8) There are countries condemning certain wars in Syria and, "Oh, this is so bad; you shouldn't do that." But under the table they're actually feeding them money to get more weapons. If we're talking about presidents that are firing chemical weapons and destroying babies and children and women in the streets and they're going, "Oh, you know, you should be ashamed and we condemn it," what people don't know is they've already provided them with money to buy those weapons.

Me: Does Trump know about this? Is Trump a part of this?

Erik: I'm pretty sure he knows about what's going on.

Me: Does he condone it?

Erik: One of the countries is France who's supporting these war tactics and who are very cruel. Let's just say that a lot of different countries are having deals –contracts under the radar– and they actually support each other in having warfare to destroy this, to gain that, to create chaos. So there are underlying deals being made that people are not aware of.

Me: Well does Trump condone it? He's so rich it doesn't seem like he would do that kind of stuff to get money. Does he condone all that's going on?

Erik: It's not about money, it's about power.

Me: Okay, well does he condone it?

Erik: It's about you do this for me, I do this for you; it's like that.

Me: Okay.

Erik: Trump is not aware of everything that's going on but they do get intel on certain things.

Me: Okay. What about Hillary? Does she know about it? Is she all for it?

Emma: He's very convinced about that.

Erik: She knows.

Me: And she supports it?

Erik: She's part of that high-society kind of group thing.

Me: Oh. Let's talk about that. The New World Order. Who are some of the members of that? And what is it, actually?

Erik: It's just a group of elites that have kind of worked their way up over the centuries. It's been passed on from family to family to family.

Me: Like the Roosevelts and families like that, right?

Erik: Right, the richest people. And sometimes people you don't even...one of them is this very old lady and she's the only one left in the family but she owns about 30% of the world.

Me: Who is it? [No] don't say because it might be dangerous for us.

Erik: Yeah I can't give you all the details because 10) what we're doing right now is already going to get their attention so let's not push it. I don't want to endanger anyone.

Me: Is Obama a member? Is Trump a member? Is Hillary a member? Bill Clinton? Who are members? The Bush family?

Erik: Not all presidents are members, however they do know about it. They just don't always have the power to stop it or even do anything about it.

Me: Okay, who are members? I mean certain rich families, but who else? Is Obama a member of the New World Order?

Erik: No.

Me: Trump?

Erik: No.

Me: The Clintons?

Erik: Yes.

Me: Anybody else you wanna share?

Emma: Eh...really? He's talking about Rock- Rockefellers or something?

Me: Those, yeah. I've heard that.

Erik: The Queen of England.

Me: Yeah, okay. Well are they all bad or do they wanna do good things for the world?

Erik: They just want to be in control; they just want to stay in that power. They're the ones who decide who becomes president. People think that they really vote, they don't. Everything is rigged. Everything will turn into a place where they want it to go.

Me: But are they nefarious? Some people want to control things to make the world a better place. But some just want all the power and money for themselves. Where do they stand?

Erik: 11) They believe that they know what's best for the world, so in order to keep that under control, they need to keep every aspect of human life under control. Some of them do believe that they need a certain order and a certain structure built into humans, that otherwise everything would go to chaos. If everybody would just do whatever the hell they want. They do believe that people need to be run like a herd and there needs to be a leader to guide them and to tell people what's good for them, what's not good for them, but in order to keep— that's the whole screwed up thing about it, Mom. Some people really believe that people need guidance. However, then you got the opposite part who does believe that, but in order to gain that control you need to attack people at the same time to keep them in that position. They say one thing in order to make 'em feel better, but if you look at it from a different point of view, they're really just doing more damage than they're helping people.

Me: In their own minds are they doing it to help the world or are they doing it to enrich themselves with money and power? Or both?

Erik: Both.

Me: So would you say they are a nefarious group or not?

Erik: Let's just say that they believe that without them the world would be in mayhem.

Me: Okay, what about the military-industrial complex, besides obviously the military, the FBI, the CIA, the industrial part of that. Who are the principal members of that? Are there like banks? Big Pharma, of course? But what are the companies, what types of companies? You don't have to mention the specifics if you don't want to, but if you want to that's fine, too.

Erik: Well you have banks that we know that we go to, but then you also have 12) a bigger bank that's controlling all the banks.

Me: Okay.

Erik: I don't know if you've ever heard of that. And they control the stock exchange and everything like that. It's the main bank that controls everything. So you have a main bank in America and you have a main bank that controls all the European ones. Let's just say that if you look at the news it's the European National Bank that decides what all the other banks in every European country needs to do. They say you need to save money then those banks need to reduce their interest rates, that one bank is controlling all the banks, so the bank is one of the biggest ones when it comes to business. But then you also have the Walmart family...

Emma: He's talking about Microsoft.

Me: Oh, is Bill Gates part of the New World Order?

Erik: Yes.

Me: I figured. Okay.

Erik: Also Facebook. He's aware of what's going on, and they do use Facebook to gain info and intel on people.

Me: Of course.

Erik: That is all in secret.

Me: Mark Zuckerberg?

Erik: Yeah, he is in contact with people who are in that New World Order.

Emma: And he's showing me computers.

Me: Like Apple or just Microsoft?

Erik: Microsoft.

Me: Amazon?

Erik: No.

Me: Okay. Yeah, because I love my Amazon Prime!

Emma: But he's talking about public transportation.

Me: Really? Okay.

Erik: People think that public transportation is being run by either the government or by...you know, it's according to state, but there's a higher group controlling all of the public transportation in all of America. It's a very secretive group. If all the different groups decide at the same time that enough is enough, they could completely flatten everything on this planet. Transportation, they can flatten food, they can flatten all communication. They can decide what we would call a fire sale, basically everything shut down. It is possible. 13) There's a risk of that happening at one point in the future, as well, which is something I wanted to make people aware of. It's gonna get worse before it gets better and there may be a time when people really have to stand up together and fight. Because they have a plan in motion that if people really get enlightened, if people really start to think for themselves and really start to reject government, reject all of that, they do have a plan in place to basically shut down the whole world, over-running the governments, even. They would take over the government's military and whoever doesn't comply or think the way they want you to think will be taken away and locked up.

Emma: They even have- it almost looks like camps- that they have already made.

Me: Are we talking about FEMA? The Federal Emergency Management something.

Erik: Yeah, they have locations that have being prepped for holding thousands of people in all different locations. They're hidden away; they're present and they're ready for that.

Me: I hear there are also hundreds of thousands of caskets and also railroad cars that FEMA has ready for something. Maybe it's this.

Emma: Maybe ready to transport, yeah. He's comparing it to Hitler and concentration camps. So I hope that doesn't happen.

Me: How do we deconstruct all this? The Global Elite, the New World Order, the Military Industrial Complex. What can we do?

Erik: We need to gain insights into people; we need to do more research; we need to know what they're planning so we can prepared for it, as well, 14) but most of all we really need to evolve ourselves so their plan will fade out of the possible future. When we start to become enlightened, when we really focus on self-love and compassion, when we focus on getting into that 4th dimension, in connecting to Source, connecting to ourselves, connecting to our Higher Selves, then more and more people will live in a state of peace, will live in a state of balance within the universe and will just focus on the positivity of life, on what the positive aspects of living on Earth as a human being are. Right now a lot of people are distraught, they're scared, they're anxious, they're afraid of the future, so we're feeding that possibility and creating it into our existence. How do we stop creating it? Think about it. Every day, we decide a new direction. Every day is a new day to create a possible outcome. Every minute of every day we have to make a decision. Do we go left? Do we go right? And when we go left then the right future dissolves. So in order for us to dissolve that possible outcome of those concentration camps, we really need to focus on not having them. We really need to focus on exposing certain people more and more using the media that we do have, although it's very much being controlled, too.

Part 3 - December 1st

Me: What about the media? Are they part of this industrial complex? It seems like they are controlling how people vote, for example. They're so frickin' biased now.

Erik: Think of it this way. They infiltrate government, they infiltrate law enforcement, they infiltrate media, they infiltrate universities where research is being done and being blocked in some way. And they're also infiltrating science. So they have people, scientists and journalists, who will stop information coming out. Or scientists who will say, "No, that's not possible," people who are really well known who have years and years of scientific background who will disprove it. So they are infiltrating everything we could possibly think of, so what we're seeing on the news, shows, even certain movies, the gazettes, newspapers, magazines, everything is checked. So it's kind of like, "This we can let go, this disappears." And when they do want to bring fear into people you will see in every newspaper, 'look at what happened' and oh my gosh, the news will be full of it: drama everywhere.

Me: I do see this because some people, I can't remember if I had the session with you or Kim, it was said that scientists are fudging global warming figures. Of course, there is a manmade component, but it's really not a serious problem because they want to make money off of the green economy and also the professors in these universities are dumbing down our kids, making them want socialism like Venezuela and making them intolerant, like Berkeley. That was the birthplace of freedom of speech, and yet they're stopping people that don't have their same opinions from speaking and they're rioting. So they're turning kids into snowflakes. And the media, too. They were so pro-Hillary. Hillary is so upset that Trump called Kim Jong-un "Rocket Man." She thought it was a very inflammatory speech and that it was dangerous, yet there's a clip of Bill Clinton saying exactly the same thing. The media is just controlling our minds.

Erik: Just a little bit over a month ago a professor was scheduled to come out and publicly announce he'd found a cure for cancer and he mysteriously had a heart attack. Those things are happening all the time all over the world. Unfortunately they do show us what they want us to see.

Emma: He's just laughing about Trump-Hillary because he knows I'm worried about that. I don't want people to think that I'm promoting the party for one of them. I really didn't care about the election, not at all, because I know that whoever's going to come into power's gonna be there for a reason. So that's my perspective on this thing, whether I like you or not because I actually thought Hillary is maybe okay but I don't really know her much. So I was like, 'I don't care', as long as whoever's in power will do the job that he's supposed to be doing at that moment. I really believe that everything has a reason whether we like them or not.

Me: Oh, both of them were very flawed candidates. Trump talks like a 3rd grader sometimes. It's terrible. But he says he wants to drain the swamp. Is part of that draining the swamp getting rid of the global elite and the corruption in the industrial military complex, getting rid of the New World Order. Is that part of it? I know Hillary wouldn't because she's part of the problem, but maybe he is too, I don't know.

Erik: What he wants to do is go back to the old ways where everybody's on his own. No co-operation, no sharing information, everybody is on his own because he really wants to rebuild America into becoming that super power but he feels that because now we have to share all this information and we have to work together with the UN – and he's not a big fan of that – [he believes] that hurts you guys more than ever. 15) He's off on that. He's not correct on that, however what he is doing is he's shaking things up. He's waking people up and saying, "Okay, well this person's not doing well and that person's not doing well," and he's shaking the grounds of even these hierarchies, these top of the pyramid people, so they don't like him.

Me: Well not many people do, unfortunately. But the UN, we're paying more than our fair share for the UN and they're not doing much to address human rights, and they have violators of human rights on the main council, so I agree with him on that. So he's not going to deconstruct the global elite and the military industrial complex, then?

Erik: He's going to remove the rubble to start over.

Me: Oh that's good.

Erik: He's tearing the building down so we can rebuild later.

Me: So when will we see the deconstruction of these global elite military industrial complex type things?

Erik: Well that's really up to us. It's really about us coming together and resisting this not by fighting but 16) by thinking in the way they don't want you to think. That's the whole ironic part about it. People think that we need to fight them; people think that we need to attack them and in some way eliminate them, but what we need to do is exactly what they don't want us to do, which is to think for ourselves, to spread that word, to stop being drawn into their little games that they're playing with us. Stop watching the news, stop watching the media. Yeah, yeah, you might have some people losing their jobs because less people buy newspapers but there's always a recuperation. People will do other things.

Me: I stopped watching the news. I can't. Trauma, Life in the E.R. I always tell the doctors what to do.

Emma: I have to say something. I stopped watching those shows, too. I like the emergency rooms because when you really look at that you can feel the love they have for that person that's in need. Who is unconscious or who is hurt. And you can look at that and you'll see how loving and compassionate people really are.

Me: Except for the one where the guy steals his mom's car, wrecks it and his passenger brother died instantly and the mom comes into the ER bay and he's really hurt and says, "The wrong kid died; you should have!" Awful! But enough of that.

Emma: There are some good ones.

My TV update: I love all the vet shows like Dr. Jeff, Dr. Oakley Yukon Vet, The Incredible Dr. Pol, Dr. K's Exotic Pet Vet. I also like this new show called Long Lost Lives or Long Lost Something or Other. It's about adopted kids finding their biological family members or vice versa. Very heartwarming and uplifting. I like the medium shows like Tyler Henry and also the new one about the energy healer: The Healer. No more news.

Me: Obviously the lesson is for us to think for ourselves, become enlightened and get to that 4th dimension and that will solve the problem.

Erik: 16 continued.... Yes, stop feeding that negative outcome that people are so afraid of and do exactly what they don't want you to do. Think for yourself, love yourself and start creating your own universe.

Me: Okay. Now, off the topic, but somebody said that aliens are stopping some of these nukes, and they're afraid of how violent we can be. Is that true?

Erik: That is true. 17) There are alien races out there who are really terrified of us and who will protect themselves. Another issue is that the government is thinking of creating or imitating an alien attack, so they would be able to attack them and get their resources and all that. And some of them are really helping us, as well. Some of them don't want these nukes to happen because it will not only affect us but it will affect the rest of the universe, as well. And it will affect them in a very negative way, too. So some of them really try to control the situation so we don't destroy ourselves and we don't destroy the planet, but then there are also other entities who are afraid of our nuclear use. I mean if you look at our history, we don't have a real pleasant one. We're always attacking each other; we're killing each other; we're killing babies. It doesn't give a good résumé to other species, and it doesn't give a good impression. So there are other species who are aware of this and who are kind of in defense mode. They're observing, but if it does come to a certain point, they will defend themselves. And then there are others who know that we have good in our hearts, and they really want to try and help us overcome these struggles.

Me: I hope so. We need all the help we can get, and we've got a long way to go. The last thing I want to talk about, really briefly, is career politicians. We've talked about Hillary and Trump but there's so many people – career politicians on both sides – who are so corrupt and don't pass bills according to what they think is best for us, I think. They pass bills or obstruct bills based on what will keep them in power. Like I say, it's on both sides. So what do you think of that?

Erik: Some of the politicians are really assigned by these higher groups. They're in that position for a reason: to stop things from happening. Then there are other politicians who really go into that job because they think they can make a difference, so they're not all bad.

Me: Of course not.

Erik: 18) Some are just infiltrated spies to stop certain things from happening, to manipulate things to go in a certain direction.

Me: Okay well we talked about the liberal Democrats. They're supposed to be the party of tolerance, yet you had the Berkeley riots and stuff. But on the Republican side you've got the religious right who are very intolerant, bigoted, etc. Are they part of this problem too? They are a problem but...it ain't good.

Erik: Let's just say that when it comes to politics, there's so much diversion now. It's like everybody's on a different page, and there's no more unity.

Me: Yeah, both sides show intolerance and a lack of love.

Erik: Because they've gotten bitter over the years. It's a well paid job and (some words were lost at this point, because the connection froze) they've given up on the world a little bit.

Me: Well look at the Republicans. They can't pass anything. I think that there are several in the Senate who are just trying to take down Trump. They don't want him to be successful at all even if parts of his agenda will help the country. Is that true? There are people that are actively refusing to allow Trump to be a success with some of the positive policies.

Erik: Yes, there are definitely people who are stopping him from doing what he wants to do, and the media is changing a lot of stuff into almost like a ridiculous mind game. 19) You know, he talks about fake news, but in a lot of ways he's right on that. There IS a lot of fake news. They just show you what you want to see.

Me: Or what they want you to see, right?

Erik: Yeah. He's being stopped every time he tries to move forward.

Me: Yes, I feel sorry for him, I wouldn't want to be in his position. Of course, he's often his own worst enemy. Okay, so can you name some of them like Mitch McConnell, Paul Ryan, John McCain? They seem like they're part of the corrupt elite, but I don't know.

Emma: McCain, he's going thumbs up.

Me: He's corrupt?

Erik: Yeah.

Me: He's part of the global elite? Okay.

Erik: The first one as well.

Me: Mitch McConnell?

Emma: Mm hm.

Me: Chuck Schumer on the Democrat side?

Erik: No.

Me: Nancy Pelosi?

Emma: (Listens and smiles) He's going, "She one tough bitch."

Me: I know. I think she's part of the New World Order. I just feel it in my bones, but I'm probably wrong. Is she?

Erik: No, however she does have a very strong belief system of her own that is not always put into a more enlightened state of mind.

Me: Okay. Who on the Democrat side are corrupt just like McCain, McConnell. Oh, I haven't asked about Paul Ryan, is he corrupt? Is he part of the global elite?

Erik: No but let's just say that he's not a great person.

Me: I used to like him but I...ugh. What about the Democrat side? Who is part of the corrupt elite?

Erik: Well it's really hard to say, but they're puppets. They're not part of the elite; they're puppets. They're being paid. Everything goes through another person and another person and another person. When it comes to government they're not really part of the elite; they're kind of foot soldiers.

Personally, I lost all respect for Chuck Schumer after hearing the following story. He was on his cell phone on an airplane, and the flight attendant politely asked him to shut it off so the plane could take off. He nodded but for several minutes, kept talking on his phone. The flight attendant went back to him and said something like, "Sir, I insist that you turn off your cell phone." He looked up at her and in an imperious tone, said, "Ma'am, do you know who I am?" to which she replied, "Yes, you're my employee. Now, turn off your phone or get off the plane." Haha! This is one reason I'm not a fan of many politicians although I'm sure there are some decent ones somewhere!

Me: Are we talking about lobbyists lining their pockets and telling them what to vote for and what not to vote for?

Erik: No, it's about they're getting paid or things promised, positions promised, things like that. It's always about financial means. Or they promise them the presidency. They'll seduce them with, "This company is yours. You can own it. You can have it." It's always about people power, giving people money, giving people control over certain things if they do this or that for them. And it usually takes a few inner people to get to their—

Me: Okay.

Erik: 20) The group we're talking about, the kind of high society top-of-the-pyramid group, they don't like to be known. So everything is very hush-hush. It's kind of like a drug cartel, so there are a lot of intermediate people before it gets to the product that actually does it. So it's really hard to track them down.

Me: Okay, two more quick questions. First, a lot of people talk about a shadow government. Is this what we've been talking about or is there something else called the shadow government?

Erik: Yes, it's just that elite that we've been talking about.

Me: What about the Deep State that the news talks about that's so anti-Trump? Like, they say they wiretapped him, which turned out to be true, trying to destroy his presidency and probably other presidencies in the past, too. Is there a Deep State in the government?

Erik: Yes, there is a group separate from that elite that wants to gain of control over government. That's a smaller group and they're not as powerful. They like to stir things up.

Me: Well they probably see Trump as a president who is going rogue and they want to reign in him. And in some ways he needs to be. Guys, you know I am not Democrat or Republican. I just want what's best for the country. I just want to let you guys know I was not a fan of Hillary because I know she has this history of corruption. Trump has some bad stuff going on, too, and he talks like a 3rd grader. I just want to pray for my country. But, last thing, what is the solution to these corrupt, career politicians? I don't think there should be representatives for 30-40 years. I think they just collect dust and become corrupt. What is the solution?

Erik: It doesn't matter what shape or form you want to put people in power. It's still going to be a power struggle.

21) The solution is us. We need to teach our children the right way about the world, about equality, about taking care of each other, and you can already tell that these new generations are a lot more enlightened and open to the idea of this. But we need to protect them and we need to protect that idea in them. We need to stimulate instead of taking it away. We shouldn't induce it with, "Oh, you need to obey what the government says," and, "You need to have a job and work like a robot in order to fit into society." No, we need to stimulate our children to say, "Hey, be free thinking. What do you feel you need to do?" We need to stimulate that enlightened way of life in them, and their generation will create a government that will be based on those ideals that we've given to them and really get rid of these power struggles that are going on all over the world.

Me: How can that happen when these university professors are telling our children how to think? Good or bad they're feeding them so much propaganda.

Erik: Because we're outnumbering this group like a million-to-one. We're outnumbering them like there's no tomorrow. So if we can all give our children the same enlightened state of mind, then we're actually gonna suppress them very easily and basically knock 'em off. They can't control nine billion people. It's just not gonna happen.

Me: Professors, the media, Big Pharma, corrupt politicians and corporations, Facebook. I'm sorry, go ahead.

Erik: This control is something that they've built up slowly for centuries. It started with the Catholic Church, and it's been building up and building up and building up. Expanding, that's what it's been doing. So in order for us to tear it down, it's also gonna be a slow process. We're not gonna tear it down in one day; that's not gonna happen. What we need to do is teach our children to become enlightened beings, become mindful, become compassionate and that needs to be integrated into their way of thinking.

Me: Question authority. Don't believe everything your teachers or professors tell you. Don't believe everything the media feeds you; don't believe everything the politicians feed you, on both sides of the house. Don't believe what the president tells you. Don't agree all the time. Yeah, I agree with you.

Personally, I think we should have term limits to get rid of career politicians and get these up and coming enlightened kids in faster. The current politicians certainly won't vote that in, but if they agree to being grandfathered so that only new politicians are subject to term limits, then the old corrupt guard will eventually retire or die.

Erik: They don't resonate with that frequency so when someone does come up to 'em, they'll be like, "I'm stepping away with from you because I don't go with that frequency; that doesn't feel good." And so when they have no more followers, when they have no one to intimidate anymore because they won't be afraid, you'll teach them to be independent; you'll teach them to be enlightened within themselves and they won't be afraid of them. Then they'll lose all power. If you take away the fear of people, all power over them is lost.

Me: So people need to learn how to trust what their heart tells them.

Erik: And take away the fear. No more fear. We're being controlled by fear. That's the number one control issue. Fear.

Me: Yep. And the media, the politicians, the New World Order, the global elite, the military industrial complex, the universities are all taking advantage of that. Now, I still think, personally, that term limits would be good because then it seems like the politicians wouldn't tend to just pass legislation or do things that will get them into the next term and keep them in power because they won't be able to do that. At least in their last term they'll do things they think are right for our country, not what's gonna get them money and power.

Didn't I just say that? Sigh.

Erik: 22) What's going to happen in the future is—and we're still talking way, way, way, from where you are now, Mom—is we'll have kind of like a government for the whole human race, no longer for different countries. The world will be unified and a government will exist from all these different areas all over the world, and they'll make decisions for everyone, everyone is equal, everything is the same. So whatever they decide will affect everyone on their planet. That's where we're headed, and it'll be kind of like a galactic confederation of the human race. That's kind of where we're going to, but this is still light years away from where we are now.

Me: I think it's gonna take disclosing some of the technology that's being hidden from us. The free energy, the cure for all diseases, the cure for starvation, poverty and all that. It's gonna take that, otherwise it's just gonna be too difficult. Things are going to be too divided. So, how do we get these technologies released to us?

Erik: Well, like I said, it starts with our children. When they eventually take over they'll knock these people out of power. If your people are no longer afraid of anything, if they are good within themselves, you take away the power. It's like a bully. They're bullying us, using our weaknesses against us.

Me: Well it seems like there should be a leader to release all this technology for us, whether it's Trump or somebody in the future who says, "Dudes, I got free energy for you," or something like that.

Erik: Well, that's the whole thing. When our children finally get to that point and they do take over, they'll reveal all this information.

Me: How long is that gonna take? A century? Two centuries?

Erik: That's up to you. You know, that's the whole thing when it comes to future predictions. It all depends on how the energy is flowing. That's what it is.

Me: This has been so fascinating. I feel like there's hope.

Erik: I want people to understand this is not a doom scenario. This is always hope, and it always starts with love, and it always starts with compassion. But it also starts with you. We have to work together, and we need to stop being afraid. The only reason they can control us is because we are fearful of everything. We're fearful of being alone; we're fearful of not being loved; we're fearful of not being popular; we're fearful of not having enough money; we're fearful of society not accepting us; we're fearful of being an outsider. There's so much fear.

Me: I know but look, what's the worse that can happen to us, people? We're eternal beings.

Erik: You can go Home and try again. You know there's nothing to be fearful about. Live your everyday as if it's your last. Enjoy it. Do what you love, people. Stop going into what is safe or what is government telling you what is safe. If you want to be an artist, anything you do with passion will give you financial stability. It will lead to financial stability if you do it with your whole heart, if you believe in yourself, it will always lead to you feeling abundant in life. Because you will already have that energy, you will already be in that frequency, because you're doing what you love.

Me: Awesome.

Erik: That's where it starts with.

Me: All right, thank you so much Erik and Emma, I love you both. Emma, you can contact her at www.emmanuelcintosh.com. Check her out at LearnItLive. Just type in her name. She's got some great classes. Some help you develop your mediumship skills, right?

Emma: Develop your mediumship skills, how to meditate and there's also one about autism. There's going to be some new ones following, so you can attend them live or watch the recordings as many times as you want.

Me: And will you have one on how to communicate with your deceased loved ones?

Emma: We're still working on the mediumship class.

Me: Oh it's kind of the same thing, yeah, yeah.

Dur.

Emma: It's the same thing, a great class because it's not only just for people who want to be a medium but it's really about how you can connect. In the first class, the beginners class, it's really about getting a good foundation in life because in order to connect, you really have to find peace and harmony within yourself. So the first class is really good for everybody's who struggling, who's depressed, who is on the look for "Why am I here?" So I definitely recommend it to anybody, and I think in about the next month I'll do the medium class, the second one, where we go more into detail about the different ways to connect and things like that.

Me: Sounds awesome, and you guys check out Erik's book, My Life After Death. Eight dollars and sixty-four cents, or something like that, on Amazon. So worth it, so life changing, such a page-turner. You'll laugh, you'll cry, your jaw will drop. Read some of the comments on Amazon because a lot of people say it's the best book they've ever read, not only just among spirituality books, but period. Also my book My Son and the Afterlife: Conversations from the Other Side. You learn about my journey from skepticism to belief, but it's not all about me. You also learn about what death is like, what the afterlife is like, what the life of a spirit is like, and it's awesome. So, check it out and love you guys.

Emma: Love you.

Erik (Blowing a kiss): Love you all. Muah, muah.

Me: Oh yeah, and there's a whole bunch of stuff on the blog that's not a YouTube video. So go to the archives of channelingerik.com. Bye, I love you Erik.

Erik: Bye, I love you too, Mom.