

Potpourri of Q (& A)

14 September 2017

Harvey's effects have kept me engaged & distracted. The post "Channeling Block" has 112 comments and running, with good questions in there. To avoid loss in the sauce, I extract from several posts and ask The Committee to address.

Reader question: Why is it at the moment any of the worlds 'minority groups' like LGBTQA are being pushed to the front and centre of our lives? It seems that the majority (seemingly White people) want to make themselves a minority.

Why are certain groups becoming obsessed with put the feelings of minorities first and insisting you cannot offend anyone from a minority background. I was reading an article the other day from a trans gender male. Who said he was offended heterosexual males didn't find him attractive as a female. What about the rights of heterosexual males.

There seems to be so much cantered on divide and conquer at the moment especially from MSM.

C: Greetings we say, Earthlings! As humans like to think alien extraterrestrials would say. if they used English. More likely would they use Chinese. by numbers among you, however any human language is available.

To this question we say, simply attention. Unpleasant as victimhood is, such status confers attention later missed by former victims after wrongs are righted. Enjoyment of attention, sympathy, empathy, physical advantage and benefit are half this business; placement of attention upon such issues and responses also supports its continuance.

Humanity learns this lesson well, if not always easily, in these current moments. You are no longer special where at least the good faith attempts at equal opportunity are made. Some among you still want cake and to eat it, too even after cake is no longer made.

Reader question: Would The Committee comment on the extent to which the efforts of lightworkers and others in Southwest Florida contributed to the weakening of Irma and diversion of the storm track away from the west coast?

C: We say, what is a lightworker? Under a definition you might like, would such person have greater power? Yes and no; belief IS power, physically and in all ways. If lightworker means belief in the power of thought energy, yes this effect operated however we will say, many, many people around Earth sent good wishes, hopes and desires for less damage, injury and loss of life. They were successful. Intensity, effects are track of the storm were altered for the better.

Reader question: Do you have any tips on becoming a medium?

C: It is the learning of a new language, with a YUGGGGGGE (think of Trump campaign rally "hewge") advantage. You can already speak the language of channeling FLUENTLY. Unlike learning to communicate in _____ (pick your preference; ¿español? 中文? 阿拉伯语?) there is no need to learn & memorize words, compose sentences or to speak. Just send your thoughts and violà! Only 1 ingredient is needed, B-E-L-I-E-F. If you do not have it, you cannot do it.

Then comes listening, already happening. This takes practice and time, like anything new; riding a bicycle, driving a car, shooting a bow & arrow, etc.

The Committee suggests writing thoughts after sending a question to your GAGs. In them will be the response(s) which seem like your own thoughts. That's true, they are YOURS but their origin & source is NOT. It doesn't matter, sit quietly, believe you can send questions with your thoughts. Write the answers, whatever comes to you. There is no wrong "answer", write down what occurs to you, whatever it is. If your thoughts move faster than legible writing, ask again or type. Answers missed will be repeated; write down whatever occurs to you.

Take a short break before reading what you wrote. It does not matter if you are sure it's all "your" thoughts. Keep doing it daily.

At some point - different for everyone, neither set nor expect a standard of performance (there's no exam or scheduled date) - the channeled information will emerge. This will fuel enthusiasm for the process; keep going. You will discover you no longer need to write then read to separate own thoughts from incoming. Sorting & sifting can be done mentally. Soon after, you'll no longer sift, as incoming will be as obvious as listening to speech & speaking yourself.

Reader question: Will Hurricane Irma change the landscape in Florida? A: The Committee says there will be modifications to the Florida Keys. Does that mean some of the key islands will be gone? A: That level of detail I'm not getting.

Estimates now say $\frac{1}{4}$ of the homes in the Florida Keys were destroyed.

Reader question: September 8th: Please please ask The Committee for any information about Hurricane Irma.

The Committee and the guides of another extremely accurate medium - one of the best on Earth - have all said: the forecast tracks are accurate.

Reader comment: Circumstances have conspired to keep me in Florida, on its west coast, in Sarasota County. I would never ask for myself, of course, but I wonder if The Committee could comment on the prospects for others in my immediate area who are also staying. Our houses are solid, with hurricane mitigation measures in place.

The Committee says "loss of life will be low across the region, you will be physically OK however the damage and effects will surround you, just as predicted and forecast."

They also say, "We never predict loss of life or injury. Even if we know this information, it would be the most grotesque violation of our role and those of any affected person, to do so. You will be OK and fare better than many in your area. Keep calm and steadfast in the conditions which follow, your positive approach and state-of-mind will best serve you and all others."
