

HCPs Part 3 of 3

12 January 2021

Part 2 will follow, as I said Part 3 would be reader questions. (Yes, I know how to count! 1, 3, 2, 4, 5, 6..... see?) Here is one question so well presented, it's the basis for an entire post. As I began to read it, The Committee jumped in to begin explaining, which leads us here.

The reader's story:

About 15 years ago or so, I had dinner with a family member of an acquaintance. During the evening after a bit much to drink, he revealed he was suffering badly from miscommunication in his marriage. He confided that his wife was cross with him, because he was keeping work secrets; these were getting to him.

At first, I laughed this off, but then he reminded me who he worked for, a rather significant HCP/family company that has a dynasty and legacy of building the America we know of today.

He then proceeded to tell me, there were actually 5 controlling families/entities controlling what happened in the USA and in the world and no one could escape them one way or another.

He felt beholden and at the mercy of them, ruining his marriage and life in general. He let it slip that the Vatican is one of them and started to say the others but then must have had a moment of clarity and said he could not talk anymore.

One of the members [here on this website] posted a link about the Vatican's interference and suddenly I was taken back to that night 15 years ago sitting with him sharing that drink as he made this confession.

I wonder if the The Committee would comment as to whether these shifts and disclosures occurring would bring this information forward to the general public and ultimately the loss of their power, control and influence. I also suspect who are the other 4 entities/families he was referring to, due to what I feel are my guides and HS [higher self?] nudging me along the way, throughout my incarnation and what I have been told or seen. I know we are all in this together and excited to see how this all unfolds.

The Committee tells a story, too.

"Our greetings, salutations and welcome to one and all. Know you should, that what we offer here is read by agents of the entities and people in question, quite amused are they yet not so much lately, the explanation for which we shall offer.

This story we shall explain first.

No secrets were being kept, because if this were the case, this man's wife would not know. That she was aware meant he had told her things then refused to divulge more details involved. That is not a secret. Many of these exist between humans, unknown because the guardian angel guides have agreed to obey the wishes of their friend not ever to disclose them. You humans do not know the quantity of secrets held by and between yourselves, because they are what they are named. Just as you all withhold information and keep secrets the vast majority will carry to the end of your Earth journey adventure, upon return home all will be revealed. You will wonder about the fuss, yet remember what you learned by considering and believing such secrets and the fuss about them, were necessary to your plan.

Better that we describe the origins, development and current state of what we have suggested are the hidden controlling powers.

It is accurate to say the Vatican is one of the major controlling influences worldwide and possibly the oldest, however all of you must remember you are people, you are individuals and so are these organizations, simply people.

Because a person is a priest, employee or high official in the church does not automatically make them an involved person in the methods, means & ways of control. We mention this obvious point because it often is not so obvious. The general, recent trend across humanity has been group identity over individual traits, characteristics and actions.

The perception of a trend or theme common to many group members does not mean every group member has them. It is commonly believed that citizens of many a nation will use the language most popular, in some places this is named an official language. You have all seen examples of citizens in such places who do not know the principal language.

Religious faith was and remains an overarching element of many societies. The first worldwide organization to achieve this transnational status became the Catholic Church. The set of beliefs and faith are not the same as the organization, its administration of hierarchy or effects from the business it is. Many people would dispute this, however we say it with a conviction of viewpoint no human holds.

Organizations in the realm of HCPs grow as members are recruited and motivated; money is always involved, being the principal social lubricant used to stimulate and maintain motion. At some point, wealth is taken nearly or absolutely for granted, yet the effects it allows exerted upon others also create an equally if not powerful effect on the motivator who distributes the wealth. Or forces it along.

Fear also motivates well, until the threat which creates it, fades. Incentives deemed positive do motivate better and longer; often a combination of threats and honey stimulate action the fastest and most efficiently.

This have learned the HCPs. The operation of the Vatican is an ideal example, through modern history.

The offer of hope, love and protection which draws members and money, has limits in the same ways all things encounter constraints, for & among humans.

The intoxication offered by the exercise of power, in which money and wealth become but a tool, technique or procedure, is almost impossible to remove from certain persons accustomed to it.

All humans have limits to whatever consumption is chosen; sometimes the limit is encountered as death. Mental consumption however, does not cause physical death nearly as easily, yet is more habit forming, more seductive and more addictive.

The man described in this story was allowed certain knowledge and satisfaction in return for work, but make no mistake, the truly powerful suffer no such anguish, difficulty or trouble. The man here was a much lower level functionary whose word would never be taken seriously, if at all, by anyone outside the organization where he worked.

He was involved by compulsion he believed voluntary, until it was too late. Upon discovery of things truly occurring, he was too far compromised and too addicted to the physical and mental benefits.

Crude examples of this occur inside criminal organizations well known to the general public around the world. Workers are suddenly made witness to things which binds them forever to the organization. Nearly immediately upon discovery of the true nature and scope of the organization and acts, they see what was hidden from them previously; the flow of benefits, privileges, power, position and wealth become obvious as being given for the specific purpose of compromising them. They nearly immediately realize that only three acceptable even if difficult choices remain; pass on or die, quit yet remain silent or continue.

If the taking of one's own life is selected, this eliminates risk to the HCPs. Quitting is also acceptable because they are redundant; the organization is structured as a military force, where succession planning is basic, integral and a foundation. The person involved is unaware of his or her redundancy and is led to believe the position and functions are unique to her or him.

Upon voluntary departure, the member is warned and sometimes also paid after-the-fact, after being closely watched to observe what might happen. If the person represents a risk, s/he is eliminated and this is either an unexplained disappearance or a suicide. No explanation is required for a disappearance, for absence explains itself. It is simple to make death look self-inflicted.

These exit selections are rare, because the person at risk only becomes one after demonstrating well a deep commitment and loyalty, and becoming enmeshed in many compromising situations. S/he voluntarily joins the circumstances and conditions of compromise, completely unaware that information is assembled to ensure loyalty through fear. Only when risk of revelation becomes possible, does this person receive confirmation of the compromises which could possibly be used to discredit him, her and every family member and friend.

The other groups of hidden controlling powers operate through legitimate business entities, and most carefully structure the organizations such that more than sufficient insulation exists to prevent leaks at any juncture, joint or seam from endangering the enterprise altogether.

Money is not the motivation, it is control. These entities and enterprises controlled, already possess so much money and effective control over the issuance of even more, that its pursuit has no inherent meaning or benefit.

The challenge being faced now, is complacency. These organizations have grown too powerful, too comfortable and easy with their position and influence, coming to see themselves as above the vast majority of humanity. True belief holds firm among them, that societies would fall into chaos in most cases and disorganization even in the best of scenarios, if their role were eliminated.

This is entirely untrue.

Many attempts to develop similar systems have been launched, humans refer to these as empires. Earth history known and accepted contains many examples in all societies. The challenge with many of them is the use of open intimidation, aggression and even war to impose and dominate.

The current controlling forces around the world have carefully observed and adjusted to prevent this yet have fallen into complacency. Overuse of distraction, indoctrination and incentives have resulted in their excess comfort.

Political changes of the most recent half decade have occurred because of this, and new methods have been employed in an attempt to re-establish control. Assassination of the US president is no longer a viable technique, although intimidation by threat of same was certainly attempted recently. It did not work, yet many parallel efforts were underway. As you have seen, these also failed to return the HCPs to a position enjoyed as recently as five years ago.

This most recent presidential election in the USA was carefully manipulated to finally achieve what other methods did not. You are all watching the effects, including the development and release of the virus one year before.

The solution and even antidote to these developments is humility, gratitude and appreciation. Material success and wealth have come to Earth yet again, and once more have erased knowledge and understanding of mankind's true nature.

What you the reader of our words can do is, understand what is happening, comprehend what unfolds before you.

We first suggest you have compassion for the truly powerful, the true leaders of the HCPs, which have been given many a name. The cabal, the New World Order, The Illuminati, The Bilderbergers, hidden concealed powers have we used, and other names.

More than anything, these individuals need human acceptance, love and company. They know not what they do, and upon discovery will face a difficult reckoning. You can lessen this and if enough human souls wish mercy upon them, forgiveness will teach the easiest and happiest lesson to them, and in turn will make you the compassionate the most happy of all.

Next we suggest that you not become annoyed, angry, frustrated or bothered beyond a few normal minutes of reaction, upon discovery of what has been occurring. It is normal as a human to react this way; we suggest no one be abnormal. Once the moment has simmered down—it always will after a few moments of slow and deep breaths— understand that people have made decision to do certain things and they remain forever people. Forgiveness is most in order, primarily to benefit each one of you. Forgive the individuals, for each of them is and has a soul just as you are & have.

Because the long term, dedicated reordering of human priorities has occurred from sustained indoctrination intended to refocus authority and control to the concealed powers, means that many segments of mankind remain unaffected. It also means anyone can change course, and when events to come force this change, you will be able to offer your silent compassion, outright help and/or many things in-between. Do as you can and please, within the normal limits your ability allows, and smile upon mankind.

Hopeful we are this brief explanation has helped the one and some of & among you, and we ask always that you do return. Our good wishes and graces to all upon whom these words arrive."
