Reader Questions

Reader Question: Will there be a big decline in commercial fishing over the next two decades. If there is a decline will that reverse after the shift has subsided.

C: Greetings fellow fisherman, fisherwomen and fishermen, for we all place our hooks, lines and nets into the water in search of experience. Unlike the sea creatures of the question, all of you and we also, always catch something worthwhile. Life fished on Earth is never empty handed. This question could be seen to follow the idea the future is fixed, the larger events set and but time is required to wait for the scheduled item to come. This question about fishing has not been decided, it is very much up to humans to decide.

RQ: Another good screen name and fake e-mail address, I hope all of you enjoy as I have: Gonzo The Great (gonzo@muppetshow.com) asks: With regard to the riots currently going on in the US:

- 1. Did George Floyd really die and if yes, did he die from the consequences of the beating?*
- 2. If he did not die, was the whole incident staged in order to create chaos and destabilise the Trump government in view of the upcoming presidential elections?*
- 3. If the incident was staged, who was behind it?*

I know you do not answer any questions linked to crimes and if these questions fall into this category, please just simply dismiss them. Thanks anyway!

The questioner knows criminal questions won't be answered but has decided curiosity still earns special treatment and will attempt to ask anyway. This is an EXCELLENT example of what drives human life and I want to expressly thank the reader for asking. Humanity will make a massive set of forward strides when the personal desires are examined, hopes for special treatment are likewise analyzed and effects of special treatment explored.

Replies The Committee:

1. Yes
2. No, the incident was not staged however many elements of subsequent riots are being coordinated and managed.
3. Powerful interests who benefit from chaos, riots and anarchy. These parties already possess vast resources, money is not the goal. These interests want more power and control, chaos creates needs to seize then impose them. Who are these interests by name, what is the organizational chart and what are the lines of communication between the elements? We are not your police investigators. It would be grotesque interference into your affairs and distortion of many life plans, were we to unwrap what is not ours to uncover.

RQ: Previously I asked what percentage of total souls incarnate on planet earth. The answer was a really small percentage. My second question regarding this topic is what percentage of total souls incarnate at all?

C: A very small percentage, the same reply. Incarnated souls such as yourself are quite rare in the universe..

RQ: If the answer is another small percentage of souls (less than 1%), why so few?

C: A long novel you ask us to compose with this question, for it essentially asks, what is the meaning of life as an incarnated animal-like being. The answer to this you are each yourselves seeking and finding, proof of this in the fact you are now reading these words. How many such life stories could be written for the eight billion of you aboard Earth now? So you see what we mean by suggesting a long, long book. The short and brief reply is, because so little capacity exists to incarnate and no desire to create more capacity—which could be done if so desired— exists either.

RQ: Are there any advantages of having a guardian angel guide with no previous earth life experience? How would a GAG know what it's like to be us without having been one before?

C: Yes, all of you have such guides who have not and will not ever incarnate. The advantage is independence. The referee in a boxing or football match cannot be linked to either side, although experience in human endeavors is often seen as required, for many good reasons. For duty as a Guardian Angel, however, at least one and for the majority of humans all of your guardian angel guides are non-incarnating. The vast majority of fans of every professional sport have also not participated in formalized teams or match-ups, yet know and follow the activity. You can love to hear and be a great connoisseur of piano music without having either played or even been a musician on any instrument.

The second part of this question arises directly from the successful human eye, which sees humans as separate. This is intentional and well you are doing by asking from this perspective. We will say, look down upon your hands, legs or knees. Sit or stand before a mirror. To a person blind, feel your body in any way you can. Do you see and perceive sensations? Yes, of course...but these are an illusion. Your body is very real inside the environment for which it is created and used. For your true self and existence, it is an illusion. Guardian Angel Guides are real and solid and massive, just as you are, which is why they and you can pass through a solid wall as if it were just an image. The solid wall IS just an image. Do you need to have been a cloud to understand water vapor in the sky?

A reader takes us on a visit to India (for some chicken vindaloo and a Kingfisher beer I hope!). Several political prediction questions have been excluded (thus the non-sequential numbering); I no longer do election forecasts.

RQ1. To quote The Committee: "The most profoundly affected nations will be the currently most highly populated." So India will among the most profoundly affected nations, right?

C: We will not say most profoundly, for the depth of effects will be significant across all of Earth. If measurement of Earth effects matters when analyzed inside national borders, this question holds more water, if however effects are considered across a region, then common parameters a sovereign nation represents, such as currency, central authority and so forth have somewhat less meaning if still relevance. The effects of upcoming events will be seen in a very obvious way inside the nation of India, including many positive effects.

RQ2: What kind of geophysical events will take place in India / Indian Subcontinent during The Shift?

C: Watch the Himalayas and the shorelines.

RQ4. What percentage of population in the Indian subcontinent will die from geophysical and related events during The Shift?

C: This is not known, but will not be material.

RQ5. Will there be a food scarcity or famine in India during The Shift?

C: Shortages, yes related to delivery. Scarcity less; famine, no.

RQ6. By what percentage will the population in India be reduced after The Shift?

C: This will be the same as across Earth and this percentage is not yet known. The population reductions across Earth will be over two generations, at least. This is intentionally vague, to say generations because it means little for impartial calendar measurements but much more inside a family. We suggest humans make some calculations, because the process will better focus expectations and attitudes. Humans find ideas, prospects & possibilities in matters of material effect, to be something about which a stance at a certain distance should be adopted, as a good scientist and researcher would do. The event or effects pursued or avoided, for good or bad, based on information the questioner has, where little effort to understand is made beyond asking the question, loses ongoing relevance, meaning or purpose. By investing mental energy into analysis of components of the effect, the outcome and beneficial reactions are enhanced. This is not always possible, we enjoy and appreciate being asked and understand why. In this case, some maths from school are indicated.

Thus we say, assume the birth rate falls to just a few percent of current birth rates anywhere. This means year to year, 90% less babies are born. At the same time, assume death rates continue almost unchanged. It is but simple mathematical calculation to determine the population decrease each year, in a nation, region or across mankind.

RQ7. Is there a possibility of major banks in India like the State Bank of India during this decade?

C: This question is not clear and of course we could extrapolate and read your thoughts but no permission has been granted to do this. If the question to us telepathically you would offer, you can and might have already. You chose words and thus words are logical and polite to be returned, thus the medium now involved, ours and your friend. If we intrude and assume what you mean to ask, then we have crossed the line into invasion of your thoughts without permission. Ask us with your thoughts however politeness and courtesy require we return the reply the same way. Will you prefer and understand this telepathic reply? Or would and do you prefer written words?

RQ9. Will there be a democracy in India throughout The Shift or will there be like Martial Law or like a dictatorship?

C: One need not eclipse the other, if the use of this condition is temporary. Brief interludes of civil restrictions will be attempted imposed in India. To any readers who live in or are familiar with India, you know how the population will generally comply —some to the letter— with orders, commands and restrictions yet always will a small percentage do as she and he pleases, without a care or thought for the rules or penalties, or in open defiance of them. Many nations have pieces of this, found everywhere. Martial law throughout The Shift? No, not even close to this. The Shift is occurring now, without martial law. India will never become a dictatorship. The remaining examples of this will fade from Earth existence after the current strongmen fall from power. No more dictatorships are coming.
