

Society Rumbles

16 August 2020

Just a few days ago a reader sent me a short statement about a government being unable to survive if merely 3-5% of its citizenry rebels. Recently and ongoing, riots and even a small, temporary territory seizure in USA cities have demonstrated the likelihood. My personal guess is, less than 3% could achieve it. The USA is hardly the only country on Earth having such challenges, so let's find out what and why, from an unearthly perspective.

Q: Esteemed Committee, it would be easy to believe social events currently occurring in the USA and elsewhere, such as recent riots in Europe, especially France as I recall, could be blamed on "The Shift" but, is such an influence involved?

C: Yes, however an influence is not a control. The events occurring in the USA —protests, riots and lootings— are mostly the result of social policy, personal decisions and influences which the humans have chosen to pursue. S/he who eats and weighs too much, almost always retains enough control over food consumption to cause or relieve the condition. Social influences, with cosmic energy part of the influence, can support, encourage and lead to certain outcomes and circumstances, no doubt. This does not take away, suppress, deny or eliminate personal control, morality, choice and action. Participation in a riot is almost always human optional; the life plan decision to be a rioter is rare.

Q: Why are protest mobs forming?

C: The participants are frustrated.

Q: About?

C: Perceptions of mistreatment, oppression, misogyny, racism, xenophobia, corruption, abuse and unfairness.

Q: Sounds like political talking points or agenda items.

C: Because these are. This is what the citizenry wants discussed, addressed and corrected.

Q: All pretty moot, the virus now making the rounds of Planet Earth is part of, parallel or unrelated to social disturbances?

C: The corona virus pandemic is a scheduled human event, the purpose to present the opportunity to react in ways humans otherwise would not. To make decisions and face challenges the decisions create.

Q: How are we doing with our decisions and responses?

C: Not well, however this is not a criticism, because the lackluster performance brings up other opportunities which provide equally valuable experiences. Lackluster applies by human generated criteria; we do not value human events the same.

From our perspective, nothing on Earth is lackluster however the experience of disappointment and frustration are the great attraction to Earth incarnation. As you all know.

Q: Are rioters, protestors, mob participants and the like going to achieve progress in the direction they prefer?

C: No, however the attraction to resistance is seductive enough to lure in the naïve. This was always the case, however the traditional controls, constraints and limits to such activity are greatly reduced in the USA and also other nations. It was always possible to appeal to the younger, more naïve and idealistic adults in a society, and this has become much easier.

Q: What constraints have been reduced?

C: Family units and cohesion within.

Q: Single motherhood, divorce?

C: Yes, among other trends.

Q: What other trends?

C: Dating, marriage age increases, fertility rate drops, duration of marriages and avoidance of the institution.

Q: Isn't this or aren't these part of The Shift?

C: No.

Q: These social changes are not happening because of the shifting energies washing across Earth?

C: No, it was entirely possible to choose another path which would still cross The Shift as it now unfolds.

Q: What's going to happen to currently fashionable ideas, social patterns and expectations?

C: A large re-set will occur rather quickly. It will not be as drastic as it could seem because of one interesting aspect of which humans are unaware; commonality. When something influences all, not just some of you, the human reflex of categorizing reactions, beneficiaries, victims, perpetrators and observers into sweeping categories of "them" and "us" will immediately been seen as futile, even counterproductive, by the few who feel such reaction. The majority of you will not do this; your human sister- & brotherhood will be automatic and apparent to the vast human majority. This will lead to the opportunity, which sadly a significant minority enough to be noted will reject, to look forward to a world improved in many ways recent and current protestors will quickly understand their ideas would not produce.

Q: What's going to be the challenge?

C: It takes much more work to persuade, convince and motivate than to impose. The lure of power is very seductive when principally examples of power-produced short term effects are shown & displayed, for the most part. Human nature is to control surroundings, to protect against cold, hunger, danger, disease, rain and many things. Most protections from these effects are taken for granted in the places where, around the world today, most rebellious protests now occur. Imposing upon B to supply A is very attractive to A where B can be forced. The missing component is creation; for how much longer will B make & have what A wants?

Q: This seems to lead back to the HCPs and their hired hands.

C: Coerced and intimidated hands, also. The ability to provoke fear is a great motivator. The HCPs have metastasized along the lines of fear, not motivation. This would seem to be the default value of mankind and history, when examined in detail.

Q: Explain the "default value" please.

C: Demand milk and cheese from the dairy farmer at knifepoint. This will be very effective, at the moment and into the near future, however the milk-making operation will slow and even stop as such threat continues. This exercise of power produces a narcotic-like effect. Observation of the process also stimulates the pleasure center in certain onlookers, who might not be willing to engage in the theft but do like to see it.

The majority of humans respond effectively to positive reinforcement, encouragement, trust and confidence however the ability to offer these four traits is much more limited. This approach, encouragement, is disfavored around the world.

The HCPs are largely responsible for steady, long term policies which lead to the circumstances surrounding humans today. The methods work effectively; appeals to pleasure through promises to provide are the honey many bees pursue.

Q: What is the objective?

C: Control.

Q: Is the control of other humans the default value we all hold?

C: No, not in the least. The opposite is the default however control is taught very effectively from a young age in nearly all humans. Many a life agreement provides for a controlled submissive position, or a dominant controlling one.

Q: Y'all have said before that the exercise of control affects many leaders like a narcotic. Why?

C: For the reasons humans have self-defense and self-preservation instincts, one and the same. The release of adrenalin is a biological reflex, dopamine a cerebral hormone released as part of or resulting from certain stimuli. Observing exercise of power from the perspective of the commander often produces a similar effect. The genetic inclusion of this hormonal response feeds the flight or fight instinct many Earth beings have. The resolution has been evolution of human government functions which identify, divide then balance powers, however this dilution has threatened the addicted.

Q: Why couldn't the power hungry seize authority long before HCPs?

C: They did, but travel and information moved slowly, limiting power grabs to regions, then eventually undermining them. Roman, British and Turkish empires are examples.

Q: The HCPs are essentially....

C: Yes, a world empire.

Q: Without limits or visibility.

C: This is the best type, it is difficult to attack and also is less likely to become intoxicated with public attention coming from its subjects.

Q: Since the HCPs didn't intentionally release the coronavirus, how involved have their influences been?

C: Highly involved; a population in need is more vulnerable. This leads to calls for change, dressed with fine hopes. Removal of Trump from office is the objective of what now occurs. Observed are the efforts of the hired hands of the HCPs, eager to gain their next drug application and to please their masters as they please themselves. Most of the actors are unaware of a control function above them, they operate as true believers. The efforts now extended to remove the USA president are carried willingly, with no need for pressure, force or coercion.

Q: This sounds like Trump support.

C: Yes, because not attacking has been twisted into the image of support. Bear in mind what you know intrinsically; three positions are generally available to all souls for all things; support, oppose or observe. The HCP-originated trend, begun decades ago and now coming to fruition and as we know here, imminent failure, is to have the supporters attempt to convince observers that passivity equals support for opposite side.

Two sides are deemed the configuration of social policy spectrum; it is much more complicated yet increasingly taboo to reconsider, dislike and dismiss both ends.

Q: Thank you Esteemed Committee, I am sure we'll have questions.

C: Await them we do; do return all of you when you can.
