

Spare some loose change? Part 2

15 September 2022

READER REQUEST; TO INCLUDE A DEFINITION OF ACRONYMS AND ABBREVIATIONS USED IN POSTS.

HCP = HIDDEN CONTROLLING POWER. ALSO KNOWN AS THE ILLUMINATI, THE CULT, THE NEW WORLD ORDER. OTHER LABELS ARE ALSO GIVEN.

PART 1 IS REPEATED, TO SKIP IT SCROLL DOWN TO PART 2 INDICATED IN BLUE - Part 2 begins here....

Q: Esteemed Committee, the bulk of the world's wealth is held by a small minority of the population. From Guatemala to Gabon or Brazil to Bosnia, the pattern repeats, and economists have analyzed it to death. Why does this happen?

C: Largely because humans allow it to happen, through ignorance. We are quick to say, we do not mean ignorance as in being thick, dimwitted or mentally dull.

Q: Yes, that's true being ignorant of something, or be described as naïve can and often is seen or considered an insult. Do the monied folks of Planet Earth actively support or engage in the well described by you practice of distraction? To crowd out what we'd benefit from knowing by flooding us with gossip, thrills and adventure?

C: Yes, but what is done is even more insidious. The distraction aspects are delegated to media by way of making profits, the purveyors and creators of the distractions do it to earn money. Your human YouTube is a good example of a place where information vital to human interests is drowned in a voluntary ocean of entertainment. The insidious aspect of distracting humans is deception.

Q: Lying?

C: Yes, as information involves financial data. Both numbers and descriptions of them are altered or simply made up.

Q: How is this done? Wouldn't most liars be caught, sooner or later?

C: Yes, the trick is to make the deception appear to be the base value or the truth, to make people accustomed to the source and the pattern coming from it. This will establish the information as valid, making it the likely point of comparison when in truth this base value is not valid or true.

Q: Is this done for all matters of public policy or just the financial parts?

C: It is done wherever sustainable manipulation can be achieved.

Q: Can you provide an example where this is NOT done?

C: Murders and causes. Reducing these incidents is often not in the interest of information manipulators; they often find a way to extract advantage from it.

Q: Is financial data information manipulation the most corrupted part of what is offered publicly?

C: No, that would be the entertainment business but doing so benefits mostly entertainer interests, so the financial manipulators ignore it.

Q: Why don't the financial information manipulators get caught?

C: Everyone who might do that believes in the information and process.

Q: Is the financial manipulation really that difficult?

C: No, it is done quite easily. Human attitudes and behavior regarding money are extremely predictable. This is done intentionally. The idea that modern economies, meaning since international transfer of funds has become relatively and even very easy plus quick, have developed as has commerce, trade, industrial development and technology, is an illusion. All these things of course occur, have no doubt about that.

The manipulation of financial data thus human behavior is straightforward from the positions of the manipulators.

Q: Are these central banks?

C: No, the banking entities are one tool, one mechanism through which the manipulation occurs.

Q: Why isn't this revealed?

C: Few humans understand the legitimate functions of monetary agencies, thus have little to no basis to understand how such function could be twisted from inside yet appear to remain legitimate.

Q: I remember what I thought was a bombshell revelation y'all gave, saying that HCPs extract the bulk of their wealth by harvesting extinguished or destroyed funds, as part of money supply control. In other words, the money is not destroyed but ends up in somebody's bank account. Is this part of or the start of it?

C: Yes.

Q: Referring to the title of this post, many of us often feel as if personal financial concerns are like wanting somebody's loose change all the time. No matter how rich or poor our surroundings might appear, regular reminders of somebody's wealth appear all over the landscape. There's plenty of money around, the money creators make certain of that. The trick for us is to catch some of it. How does financial data manipulation help this happen?

C: Humans act based on information and learned reactions to that information. Human behavior is best controlled through money. Both its abundance or scarcity will affect groups and individuals, often in extreme ways if the changes are made rapid enough. Winning a lottery or losing a personal fortune are two examples.

Do you believe lotteries are simply creations of government to increase tax collections or possibly they are used to influence human financial behavior?

Q: Esteemed Committee, I have what I believe are a LOT of questions on this topic, and I try to keep the posts to two or three pages in length. Let's re-visit this topic next post.

C: Tomorrow if you please. Be well until again we all meet, readers most included.

Part 2 begins here:

Q: Esteemed Committee, what base information is manipulated?

C: Tax collections, money supply, employment data, industrial production and many other things. The list is quite long.

Q: Is all of it manipulated?

C: No, the inclusion or allowance of good amounts of truth are what create sustained credibility. The effect intended, and achieved, is similar to a chemical process known to humans as titration. The color of a prepared solution can be changed to clear or transparent, as if the liquid were water, then back to the original color with just one drop of liquid, shifting the balance of component chemicals. A similar effect occurs with truthful and deceptive information; the net sum or final conclusion is false but much truth is mixed in along the way.

Q: When did information manipulation such as this begin?

C: In human history, as soon as it was possible.

Q: Has it gotten worse, better or remained the same as information has become much more voluminous, detailed and fast not to mention available everywhere?

C: Information manipulation has worsened, because the sources have grown smaller in number relative to outlets distributing information.

Q: What happens if the manipulation is discovered?

C: It is called a mistake. In many cases, manipulated information is released with planned corrections to be issued later on. This is done to enhance credibility and trust; consumers of the data will believe that the error, initially labeled a lie, was properly corrected. Many will join in the effort to denounce the critics, who were right all along.

Q: Sounds like Disinformation 101.

C: Indeed this is but one of many counter intelligence techniques.

Q: What is the desired effect of the manipulated data?

C: Change behavior and make the objects of it believe they are acting prudently. It is far too difficult to force compliance and sustain the effects. It is much better to convince targets they act in their own best interest and lead them down a path they believe they are selecting without undue or improper influence.

Q: Sounds like the coronavirus vaccine hysteria.

C: This was an example.

Q: Why have no prominent economists written publicly about financial data manipulation?

C: They do not know it occurs.

Q: I saw a shocking statistic just yesterday about male employment participation aged from the mid-30s to late 50s. The rate of labor force participation today is more than 2% lower than in year 1940, at the end of the Great Depression before the USA entered World War II. Is this accurate?

C: Yes.

Q: How can a sprawling economy operate that way?

C: Low cost labor, much of it illegal alien as such workers can be classified.

Q: Why wasn't that a factor in 1940?

C: Immigration into the USA was relatively unrestricted until 1925, then reduced significantly. Immigration rules were enforced, illegal alien labor was scant.

Q: Are the illegal alien statistics manipulated in the USA?

C: Yes, the true figure is nearly double what is repeated regularly. The process flourishes when allowed to, precisely because of the illegal aspect. The attraction would diminish if immigrants into a nation were allowed without much restriction, and treated the same as established residents.

Q: What would happen if financial data and statistics related to it were not manipulated?

C: After the surprise, disbelief, shock and anger. Economic growth would be vigorous, fewer rich and fewer poor people would occur. These extremes are much easier to manipulate, the rich by means of fear for loss of wealth, the poor through desire to attain it. The remainder of a society is manipulated by the images released, in order to generate sympathy and envy.

Q: Are the HCPs really behind all of this?

C: Of course. The near elimination of poverty in a nation through voluntary market effects occurring as a result of free trade, are devastating for a ruling class, which must portray itself as the savior of the downtrodden, to maintain power and wealth acquisition.

Q: Thank you Esteemed Committee.

C: You most welcome always are. Bewell one and all.